The proven combination of diamond and carbide on the abrasive disk, which is mounted on a self-cleaning and heat-dissipating solid brass retaining ring and rounded guard, will provide as many as 200 floats. The disc is easily cleaned between uses and is simple to replace as needed. The unit is driven by a dependable, infinitely variable-speed Makita drill. A super-bright LED light with flexible head (sold separately) can be attached to the shaft to clearly illuminate the dental surface under any lighting conditions. The removable T-handle can be attached to either side of the drill to allow two-handed operation and provide additional leverage.

The head of the unit is 1.5" in diameter and the stainless steel shaft is 19-5/16" long. The entire unit is 28-1/4" long and weighs less than 5 lbs., making it easy and comfortable to use for operators of all sizes. Manufactured in the U.S. by SECUROS.

The Alpine Power Float comes in a lockable hard carrying case with everything you'll need to perform routine maintenance on the unit, which will ensure its reliable operation for years:

- Set of Allen wrenches to disassemble the unit
- Spanner wrench to remove the abrasive disk
- Wire brush to clean the disk
- Food-grade grease to lubricate the disk
